

Application fees for flood work approvals

2018-19 application fees for flood work approvals

Types of applications and associated fees

The department charges fees to cover the cost of assessing applications relating to flood work approvals. The application fee that applies depends on the type of application and whether advertising is required.

New or amended approval – advertising required

The application is for a new approval – or to amend an existing approval – that must be assessed and is required to be advertised.

Advertising is required under the relevant floodplain management plan when the flood work is non-complying – meaning it does not comply with specified rules, or the flood work is located in a zone where advertising is required.

For information about floodplain management plans, visit the department's website at www.industry.nsw.gov.au/water/plans-programs/plans.

Fee for a new or amended approval – no advertising: $1,228.24

New or amended approval – no advertising

The application is for a new approval, or to amend an existing approval and must be assessed but is not required to be advertised.

Fee for a new or amended approval – advertising required: $916.96

Extension of approval – before expiry

The application is for the extension of an approval and is received by the department before the approval expires.

Fee for extension of approval – before expiry: $253.52

Extension of approval – after expiry

The application is for the extension of an approval and is received by the department after the approval expires.

Fee for extension of approval – after expiry: $422.53